Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 02 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Initially cloudy, with sunshine for most later. Staying dry.

Today:
Another cloudy but dry start to the day across the region. Northwestern areas will see the sunniest conditions during the afternoon as cloud thins, giving higher temperatures. Some sunny spells elsewhere. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Sunny spells across western and northern areas this evening, then some clear spells here overnight, feeling cool under the clearest skies. Cloud thickening during the early hours, but remaining dry. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Friday:
A familiar pattern continuing, remaining cloudy at first, with the most sunshine in western and northern areas later. Sunny spells more widely through the evening. Staying dry. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Mostly dry conditions continuing, with some sunny spells scattered throughout. Perhaps a few showers developing on Sunday and Monday. Feeling warm in the sunshine, but a few chilly nights ahead.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.